

Disclaimer

To Safely transport ATVs and Motorcycles, approved tie-down straps or cables must be used and attached to the truck bed. The Extreme Form Rack is a support device, and is not intended to create a secure attachment to the vehicle. Attach tie-down straps and cables DIRECTLY to the truck box or frame, NOT the rack.

Improper securing or transporting an ATV can result in severe injury or even death.

Safety Tips

1. A helmet must always be worn during the loading and unloading of an ATV on any carrier system
2. It is necessary to fasten all ATVs securely to the truck box before traveling. We recommend that you use two tie-down straps on both the front and rear of each ATV, for extra safety
3. We also recommend that what ever tie-down system you use, check frequently while traveling to ensure that they remain tight.
4. When loading and un loading an ATV, use the four wheel drive option when available, when loaded, leave the transmission in gear, and set the emergency or park break on.

All ATV activity is a risk involved sport. While Extreme Form Products offer an outstanding product, users of our product assume full responsibility for safety.
